LARGEST CIRCULATION.

NUMBER 171

RAILROADS WILL REFUND FREIGHTS

Oklahoma City, Oct. 23.—As the result of an agreement between Chairman Love and Commissioner Henshaw on behalf of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission and the presidents of the railroads operating in Oklahoma, reached in St. Louis on Monday day of this week, the Corporation Commission will soon make a distribution of four hundred thousand dollars to Oklahoma freight shippers. This money is the fund that has been accumulated in freight collections in excess of the Commission scale of rates, while the railroad appeal from the Commission orders has been pending in the supreme court. The railroads have decided to drop the fight and put the Commission rates into effect. All persons or concerns who have paid freight on carload shipments between points within the State of Oklahoma during the last year, or since the rate orders were appealed, should get their paid expense bills together and be ready to show a claim for their part of this fund. The railroads will pay the excess charges to the Commission in a lump sum and the Commission will make the refunds to the shippers.

The two-cent passenger fare case is still pending. The victory thus secured means, in addition to this big refund, a saving to the shippers of the state of at least $500,000 per year, the amount increasing in proportion to the volume of traffic done. Every town in the state, and nearly every business concern, will share in this division of the fruit of the Commission's efforts.

Rags Wanted—Will pay 2 cents per pound for large clean cotton rags. News office.

Want Eastern Star Home.
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 23.—The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Iowa grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, which settled down to business here today, is featured by a spirited contest of rival cities to secure the Eastern Star Masonic home. The home was formerly located at Boone, but it was destroyed by fire last spring. Boone is making a strong effort to have it rebuilt there, while Marshalltown and Cedar Rapids are offering strong inducements to secure the institution.

ELECTIONS IN ALL THE STATES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—One week from next Tuesday the voters in the forty-eight states of the Union will express their preferences for president and vice-president of the United States. In forty-six of the states representatives in the next congress—the Sixty-third—will be named. Twenty-nine states will vote for governors and other state officers and in half a dozen other minor state officials are to be elected. Maine, Vermont, Arkansas and Georgia have held their state elections, but the two latter states will, on November 5, elect representatives in congress. Maine and Vermont have already chosen their congressmen as well as state officers.

The states that will elect governors are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The electoral disputes arising between the regular Republicans and the Progressives have been settled in practically all of the states. Confusion still exists, however, in regard to some of the state tickets. Straight Republican tickets have been named in all of the states, excepting one or two in the South. The Democrats have tickets in all of the states in which elections are to be held. The new third party has put up a separate ticket in all of the states in which elections are to be held. The new third party has put up a separate ticket in all of the states in which the regular Republican nominees were not satisfactory to the "progressives." The Socialists have named candidates for governor and other state officers in twenty-seven states. The Prohibition party has complete state tickets in twenty-one states. In addition, tickets of the Socialist Labor, Independence, Populist and other minor parties will appear on the ballots in some of the states.

The Progressives, Socialists and Prohibitionists have nominated candidates for congress in many districts, and in others labor unions or federations have endorsed Democrats or Republicans who are believed to be favorable to their cause.

The Progressives have named complete tickets for governor and other state officers in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah and Washington.

The Socialist party has complete state tickets in Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah and Washington.

The Prohibitionists have named candidates for governor and other state officers in Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah and Washington.

Many of the states will elect legislatures that will have the naming of United States senators. A total of thirty-three seats in the United States senate will be at stake in the election. Of these eighteen are now occupied by Republicans and thirteen by Democrats. Two vacancies, caused by the death of Charles J. Hughes of Colorado and the enforced retirement of William Lorimer of Illinois, bring the total up to thirty-three.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Big Ed Reulbach, the Cubs' great pitcher, pitched regular championship ball in the Chicago city series.

In signing Mordecai Brown to manage the Colonels, it looks as if the Louisville owners have copied the right party.

Two famous, 400 hitters of former days, Hugh Duffy and Jesse Burkett, were pats once more during the championship games.

The Three-I League moguls have announced April 24 as the opening date and Labor Day for the closing games for next season.

In purloining 116 sacks during the past season Ralph Meyers, of the Spokane Northwestern League team has established a base-stealing record.

President James Gaffney, of the Boston Nationals, is cleaning house. He will have a new manager, a new secretary and new players for next season.

Just to show how the advance dope on the world's series ran for Sweeney, Young Forrest Cady proved to be a better backstop than the veteran Bill Carrigan; the star outfielder of the Red Sox had nothing on the Giants' gardeners; "Red" Murray came back and was there with the wallop; Jerkes, of the Sox, didn't blow up as was predicted; Bedient, the unknown pitcher, his way into the baseball hall of fame and Heins Wagner upset the dope by playing the best all-round game of any player in either outfit.

Football Notes.

End rush Vinal, of Williams, produced some real football in the Harvard-Williams game.

Hill, left guard, who weighs 181 pounds, is the heaviest man in the Carlisle Indians' lineup this fall.

Work on Yale's new football stadium and clubhouse is to be started within the next few weeks.

McGuire, of the Harvard eleven, is showing more activity at right guard than he did before he was hurt.

Swarthmore gained 263 yards by rushing against Pennsylvania, the Quakers' plays from scrimmage covering 153 yards only.

Clarence Weymouth, Yale's old gridiron star, is officiating in the football games being played in Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis.

Harvard has been doing little with the direct pass for rushing from scrimmage this fall. Yale and Princeton, however, have been using the direct pass frequently, but with no especially good results.

Spanking a 6-foot football player sounds like kidding, but at Cornell it is no joke. At Ithaca the coaches have a large paddle within easy reach and when a player starts to loaf, "whackety bang" goes the paddle on the laggard.

Waxahachie, Tex., Oct. 21.—On November 29, the eighth anniversary of the murder and robbery of Sol Aronoff in his little store in Dallas, Burrell Oates, the negro, will be executed here in payment of the extreme penalty of the law for the crime. Oates was sentenced by District Judge Hawkins this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The negro has been tried eight times. Once there was a hung jury and once the trial court ordered a new trial. Five times the higher court reversed the case after the death penalty had been assessed, but the sixth time the final tribunal allowed the jury's verdict to stand.

Decision by Iowa Judge, Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 22.—Proposed changes in the law governing the Modern Woodmen of America is a direct violation of the vested contract rights of the members, and is null and void so far as its attempts to change the rates without the consent of the members, according to Judge Bradshaw, in an opinion handed down today.

The decision was given in a case wherein the insurgent wing of the organization asked the court to set aside and annul certain changes in the articles of the association by-laws adopted by the head camp of the Modern Woodmen of America last January.

MARSHALL SENDS TROOPS

TO RACE TRACKS

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22.—Mineral Springs race track at Porter, Ind., tonight is in the hands of Indiana state troops with orders from Gov. Thomas R. Marshall to see that gambling on the races be prevented. The troops arrived at the track today with three days' rations.

Three companies of militia took charge of the track after it had been decided by the owners of the course to make an attempt to run the races. When the horses appeared for the first race they were halted by the soldiers who fixed bayonets, and the races were called off.

The troops also halted all spectators as they appeared at the gates. Those who entered before the troops arrived were detained in the inclosure for more than an hour. In the number were about fifty women.

A conference of owners considered court proceedings to restrain the governor from further interference, but a final decision was not reached.

With the advent of the troops, many horsemen began shipping their stables away.

UNMASKING THE TARIFF DELUSION

Franklin Pierce Shows That Labor Is Not Benefited by Unjust Tax.

MANUFACTURER KEEPS PROFIT

Proof of Democratic Platform's Soundness Cited in Reports of Wage Investigations.

By FRANKLIN PIERCE.
For a hundred years of our history the manufacturers, believing that they received a benefit from the protective tariffs, have ingeniously devised plausible pretexts for imposing increased prices upon the necessities of life. At first they said that industry in our country was in its infancy and needed protection. When those industries had become strong and needed no aid the manufacturers invented the theory that the foreigner paid the duty. This theory was exploded, and they declared that cheap clothing meant cheap men and was not a blessing.

Driven from every one of these indefensible positions, their final and only argument left today is that the tariff is imposed upon foreign imports to enable the manufacturer to increase his profits and pay higher wages.

The Democratic platform declares that:
"In the most highly protected industries, such as cotton and wool, steel and iron, the wages of the laborers are the lowest paid in any of our industries."

Proof of this statement is found in reports of many recent official investigations of wages in the United States.

Wages in Cotton Industry.
Under the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff law actual imports of cotton cloth paid in 1910 average duties of 68.4 per cent.

In 1905, when work and wage conditions in the cotton industry were exceptionally good, the wages of 202,211 cotton mill operatives in the United States—men, women and children—averaged only $6.47 a week. The average wage for men was but $7.71 a week, for women $6.30 and for children, $3.21. As to the profits, seventeen leading cotton mills, with total capitalization of $25,110,000 and total surplus of $21,363,501, paid in nine years dividends averaging 22 per cent.

The cotton manufacturers turned out in 1905 $442,451,218 worth of goods and paid in wages therefore $94,337,695, or 21 per cent. of the value of the finished product.

Extortion of Wool Tariff.
Outside of the duties on two or three commodities of comparatively little importance, the duties on woolen cloth are the highest of any in the tariff schedules. According to Senator Reed Smoot, owner of a woolen mill at Provo, Utah, and chairman of the finance committee in charge of tariff legislation in the senate, wearing apparel valued at 30 cents a pound now pays 206.2-3 per cent. duty.

This and other correspondingly high duties on the manufactures of wool are made to enable the manufacturer to pay his labor an increased wage over those of foreign countries. But the duty on woolen goods is nearly five times the entire labor cost, while the American manufacturers in 1905 paid in wages only 18 per cent. of the total value of their production.

At Lawrence in this most highly protected industry the laborers were obliged to strike even for a living wage. Thousands of adult males were receiving only from $6 to $9 a week and many only $5 to $6 a week. As a result of the strike the American Woolen company gave its employees slight increases in wages.

The wool tariff bill vetoed by President Taft reduced the duties on raw wool from 42.20 to 29 per cent. and on manufactures of wool from 87.65 to 48.36 per cent. Mr. Taft said he vetoed it because the proposed rates did not comply with the findings of the tariff board. Senator La Follette contradicted the president, saying that the proposed rates varied from 1 per cent. lower to 11.6 higher than the tariff board's findings justified.

Low Wages in Steel.
Manufacturers of iron and steel in 1905 paid in wages only 15 per cent. of the total value of their production, while the duty then would average about 45 to 47 per cent., and on all metals it now averages 34.51 per cent.

American wages are really the cheapest wages in the world when you take into account the amount of production per man.

An illustration of this appears in the Stanley report, investigating the steel trust, as follows:
"The labor cost of producing pig iron in Pennsylvania fell from $1.35 a ton in 1902 to 82 cents a ton in 1909, yet the realized value of the pig iron output was $15.64 in 1902, whereas it was $17.44 in 1909. In other words, the workers in 1902 got $1.25 for producing only $15.64 worth of pig iron and in 1909 only 82 cents for producing $17.44 worth."

While thus treating labor the industrial combinations that have grown up under the protection of the tariff have fixed the prices of commodities at the highest point the home market would stand. For twelve years they have been unjustly transferring through the protection tariff billions of dollars from the earnings of labor into their own pockets.

When will the laboring men of the country cast off this delusion that the tariff is for their benefit and with their votes strike down this monstrous injustice?

Burglar Got It All.
Early one recent Saturday morning, a man residing at East Melbourne, (Vic.), was startled to see a man in his room, and cried out, "Hullo, what are you doing there?" The man threw the light of an electric torch on the speaker, and covering him with a revolver, asked, "What is your money?" "I haven't got any," replied the householder. "I am one of those unfortunates who have none." The burglar kept him covered with the revolver, and after waiting for a moment or two, said, threateningly, "Don't follow me," and backing towards the door, went out. A few minutes afterwards the householder aroused the house, and on searching the place it was found that almost every drawer in the house had been turned out, but the only property missing consisted of $25 in cash and a gunmetal watch.

Duration of Twilight.
The duration of twilight, which depends primarily on the height of the atmosphere, varies with the latitude of the place, the season of the year and the elevation of the observer. In the higher latitudes it lasts longer, because the sun is inclined at a more acute angle in setting. Near the equator at sea level it does not last more than half an hour, while in latitude 40 degrees it continues for from an hour and a half to two hours. At high altitudes, where the amount of air above the observer is small, the period is much reduced. The length of time may be computed from the fact that twilight continues until the sun is 18 degrees below the horizon at sea level. It follows that at about 50 degrees north latitude in midsummer there is twilight all night.

Severe Shock Not Fatal.
Two Mount Vernon, N. Y., men after being knocked down by 11,000 volts of electricity the other day got up and walked away. One of them was slightly hurt and the other is apparently uninjured. The men were walking on top of a freight car in the freight yard of the New Haven railroad at Mount Vernon, when one of them accidentally touched one of the feed wires that transmit power to the electric trains. The shock knocked him down. In falling he struck his brother, whose shoulder hit the same wire. There was another flash and one of the men's shirts caught fire as he fell. Both men climbed down from the car and walked to the entrance of the freight yard, where they waited for an ambulance to take them to the hospital.

Old School Mayor.
Henry T. Hunt, the young reform mayor of Cincinnati, is a Yale man, and at a recent Yale banquet he told a story about a mayor of the old school. "This mayor," he said, "was as cynical as he was corrupt. A schoolmate visited him one day and asked for a job. 'Well, Joe,' the mayor answered heartily, 'the very next job I have to give away, you shall get.' Joe waited about a year, then he ventured to call on the mayor again. 'How about that job?' he said reproachfully. 'You told me a year ago that I was to get the very next job you had to give away.' The mayor, with a cynical smile replied: 'But I've had none to give away, Joe. I've sold them all.'"

No Answer.
Senator Borah was talking at a dinner in Boise, about an embarrassing question that he had been asked at Chicago. "The question," he said, smiling, "went unanswered. It was like little Willie's query. A young gentleman was spending the week-end at little Willie's cottage at Atlantic City, and on Sunday evening after dinner, there being a scarcity of chairs on the crowded piazza, the young gentleman took Willie on his lap. Then, during a pause in the conversation, little Willie looked up at the young gentleman and piped: 'Am I as heavy as sister Mabel?'"

Bags for Clothes.
To pack away clothes where one has not a chest for the purpose, there have been lately invented "moth bags" and "moth sheets." These bags are made to close air tight, and are large enough to hold automobile garments, ulsters or suits; and small sizes come for muffs and furs, says the New York Times. The "sheets" are used for packing rugs and curtains. No camphor need be used with them, for they are already prepared with tar and cedar, and there is also an odorless bag and sheet.

Dry Answer.
Woodrow Wilson, in an interview with a reporter at Seagirt, said with a smile: "Your questions about my campaign are premature. I must organize my thoughts before I answer them. You remind me of William the Conqueror's son Robert. Robert, you know, asked to be invested with the government of Normandy in his father's lifetime. But to this demand William the Conqueror replied dryly: 'Is it not my custom to take off my clothes before I'm going to bed?'"

Telephone as Nursemaid.
At Platte Fougere lighthouse station, Guernsey, the baby is put out on the common to sleep in the open air. In the pram is a cigar box containing a telephone transmitter and a clock. Wires running to the house enable the busy mother to listen for baby's cry at intervals of work, or continuously if seated at the table. The ticking of the clock indicates that the transmitter is working properly.—London Strand.

ROOSEVELT BAIT FOR SUFFRAGISTS

Third Term Candidate Was Consistently Their Enemy Till He Needed Their Votes.

COULD HAVE CARRIED OHIO

But Big Bull Moose Took to the Vermont Woods—Noted Woman Exposes His Change of Front.

By IDA HUSTED HARPER.
The Progressive party had its first opportunity to show its loyalty to the woman suffrage plank in its platform when the vote was taken in Ohio on a new constitution. Forty-two amendments were on the ballot, and all were adopted except the one for woman suffrage!

Ohio is one of the "banners" Progressive states, and Mr. Roosevelt expects to secure its electoral vote. In order to do this a plurality of the electors must be Progressives, and they could therefore have easily carried the suffrage amendment if all the others had voted against it, as the vote on the constitution was very light, only a few hundred thousand out of more than a million who were eligible. Did he issue any orders to this effect? Did he say to his followers: "Now, here is our first chance to show the women that we mean business. Of course if we win in November we will give the franchise to all in the United States, but just now we can make good by giving it to those in Ohio, so let every Progressive vote for the woman suffrage amendment?" Did he do this?

On the contrary, he completely ignored the matter, although he passed through Ohio the very day of the election. A few days before, at St. Johnsbury, Vt., Mr. Roosevelt had devoted a large part of his speech to showing how strongly he believed in the ballot for women and how anxious he was for them to get it. The question was not an issue there or likely to be, but it was a vital issue in Ohio, to be settled in four days, and yet not by spoken or written word did he show to the people of Ohio that he knew of its existence.

Two days after the Progressive party in Ohio permitted the defeat of this amendment its state convention met. If any women were elected delegates the press dispatches failed to mention it, and in the platform a woman suffrage plank was conspicuous by its absence. "The Progressive party pledges itself to the task of securing equal suffrage to men and women alike," says its national platform, and Ohio has just given the first example of the way it apparently means to keep that pledge.

In Mr. Roosevelt's second term the suffragists determined to make every possible effort to secure an endorsement from him. As Miss Susan E. Anthony's most eloquent letters to him received no answer, she went in person to see him in November, 1906, just four months before her death. With all her powers of persuasion she pleaded with him to recommend in his forthcoming message some recognition of woman's claim to a voice in the government. Laying her hand on his arm, she looked up into his face and said, "I beg of you to be the emancipator of woman as Lincoln was the emancipator of the slave." He was not resembling Lincoln so much in those days as he is at present, and he remained totally unmoved by her appeals.

Scant Courtesy at White House.

Shortly before he left the White House several officers of the National Suffrage association, realizing his great influence on public opinion, made one last effort to have him speak a favorable word. He came into the outside lobby of the executive office, required them to state their business before the crowd waiting to see him and would hardly give them a chance to speak, but kept saying, "Go and get another state." He shrugged his shoulders and turned on his heel, and then they said, "If we will get up a petition of a million names will that influence you?" "No," he replied, "not one particle."

That was in 1909. The next year a letter from him was read at an anti-suffrage meeting in the Berkeley theater, New York, in which he said: "I am very tepid on woman suffrage."

The cause of woman's enfranchisement has no more implacable enemy than the Outlook, and Mr. Roosevelt is on the editorial staff. Last February he had in that magazine a ten-column article entitled "Woman's Rights," but the only right considered was that of the suffrage. The article was such an excellent exposition of the attitude of women who do not wish to vote that the Anti-suffrage association ordered copies for distribution. In this article he said again, "In our western states where the suffrage has been granted to women I am unable to see that any great difference has been caused as compared with neighboring states."

And yet just four months after this publication, when Mr. Roosevelt had definitely decided to make the contest for the presidential nomination, all his scruples about forcing suffrage on a hostile and indifferent majority vanished in thin air because a million and a half already had votes and the colorless wanted them, and he knew they wouldn't stand for any nonsense about a referendum.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is usually a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble."

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

LIGHT ON ANCIENT PANIC ARGUMENT

History Demolishes Republican Claim That Democrats Made Hard Times.

1893 WAS UNDER HIGH TARIFF

Every Panic Since the Civil War Has Been a Republican Panic—Lessons From 1907 Upheaval.

The enemies of Democracy are making their anticipated and regularly recurring howl—they are predicting hard times if Woodrow Wilson is elected president on a Democratic tariff revision platform.

The Republicans are claiming all credit for present prosperity.

A glance backward will be worth while at this time.

Every panic since the Civil war originated and developed under Republican rule.

The Republican campaign textbook of 1904 devoted much space to the many business disasters occurring from July, 1893, to November, 1894, intending the public to attribute them to the inauguration of President Cleveland in March, 1893. But the Republicans fail to refer to the fact that the Republican tariff law was in force during more than twelve of the sixteen months of greatest business disasters. This fact must be remembered—the McKinley tariff bill became a law Oct. 6, 1890, and the first indications of the 1893 panic were seen Nov. 11, 1890, scarcely more than thirty days after the McKinley law was passed, and the panic reached its worst stage in 1893 and early in 1894, during which time the McKinley law was in full force.

Millions Lose Their Jobs.

It may be recalled, too, that the panic of 1873 under Republican rule and in a period of twelve years of high tariff taxation, was most disastrous. It continued five years, 3,000,000 workmen were thrown out of employment and bankruptcy ran riot.

In 1890 the McKinley high tariff bill was passed, and there were 10,673 failures, followed by 12,394 in 1891. The tariff was raised to nearly 50 per cent, but wages stood still or declined while the cost of necessities advanced.

The most serious labor troubles in the history of the United States have occurred under Republican high tariffs.

Some Lessons From 1907.

The Republican panic of 1907 furnished another forceful refutation of the Republican claim that Democratic administration and hard times, lower tariffs and panics have been co-existing.

In 1907, in the midst of prosperity, thousands of leading banks, with hundreds of millions on deposit, suspended cash payments. The trouble began as a result of a struggle between great New York financial institutions for business.

The New York post in October, 1907, said:

Condemn Themselves.

"The certain and significant thing is that it will be known as a Republican and high tariff panic. Protest as Republicans may, they will be held responsible. Out of their own mouths the Republican party and the Dingelies will stand condemned. They fixed in 1896 the standard by which they cannot escape being judged. In the party platform of that year they referred to the panic of 1893, and the hard times following, squarely to charge up the entire accountability to the party in control of the national government, and the political interference was stated with merciless logic: 'Every consideration of public safety and individual interest demands that the government be rescued from the hands of those who have shown themselves incapable of conducting it.'"

"Now, what are the Republicans going to do when the Democrats hand them back their poisoned chalice? . . . A great emergency has come and the high tariff is seen to be of no avail whatever. It was to keep us all right and prosperous."

"Because the country has just got over the results of a Republican panic the president and his friends are urging us to perpetuate the Republican administration," says the Philadelphia Record.

Business Depression.

"As soon as business was checked five years ago the steel corporation, which was encouraged by Mr. Roosevelt to swallow the Tennessee concern, then its most formidable potential competitor, drew its fires and threw about half its workmen out of employment. Other industries did much the same thing. . . . There was an extensive stoppage of mills in Philadelphia."

"The Republican candidate for congress in the Kensington-Richmond district is using the 'soup houses of 1893' as a means of scaring the wage earners from voting the Democratic ticket. Those soup houses existed under the McKinley tariff. But there have been more recent ones. After 1907 there were soup houses in the Kensington-Richmond district, and everybody who was charitably disposed was begged for contributions to feed the people who were out of employment."

CALIFORNIA STATE OFFICER

LAVES BULL MOOSE HEARSE

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 23.—State Controller A. D. Nye of California, a leading member of Governor Hiram Johnson's administration, has renounced the Third Party and declared for Governor Wilson. Mr. Nye was the organizer of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League which nominated and elected Hiram Johnson governor of California.

Running on the same ticket with Mr. Johnson a year ago for the office of state controller, he won by the largest vote given to any of the Lincoln-Roosevelt candidates. He was one of the leaders in the fight for Roosevelt at the presidential primary in California last spring.

In a statement issued today, Controller Nye says that because of the platform and program upon which he is running, and because of his splendid record as a progressive, he favors Governor Wilson.

Mr. Nye particularly objects to the Roosevelt doctrine of recalling judicial decisions and denounces this policy as anarchistic. He says that he will still support Governor Johnson in state matters.

The famous Becker case has at last come to a close in New York, but as most of the testimony on both sides was given by professional crooks, the verdict is very much in doubt. Just a question of which crooks the jury believes.
